

Just as a master's coaching is so fundamental to an apprentice's success in their music training, your backing of the Park International Center for Music supports our ICM student artists and their mentors. Please help sustain the music by becoming a Patron of the Park International Center for Music today.

Park International Center for Music's Patrons Society includes members of our extended family who provide support for the next generation of accomplished musicians. Park ICM delivers exceptional training in a focused and creative atmosphere with an international faculty of renowned excellence. Park ICM recruits and attracts future undergraduate and graduate students from throughout the world. Many of these world-class students must have financial support in order to continue their artistic pursuits.

Park University is a private, not-for-profit institution that does not receive state-funded support. Although the Park ICM program receives generous support from the University, a portion of its operational expenses and scholarships awarded to qualified students is dependent upon fund-raising initiatives through Park University and the generous support of music lovers like you.

Your Patrons Society gift helps provide direct support for exceptionally talented Park ICM students through academic/talent based scholarships, stipends for room and board, music, travel grants that enable students to participate in national and international competitions, master classes, and performance opportunities. Your donation is an investment in the future of accomplished student musicians who aspire to artistic excellence and to perform great music at the highest professional level.

The Park ICM Patrons Society was founded to help students achieve their dreams of having distinguished professional careers on the concert stage and in recording studios. We hope to see you at an ICM concert soon (schedule found at icm.park.edu) and at our next Patrons Society event!
